

Homily for the Installation of Reverend Adam Prichard as Pastor of St. Mary Help of Christians Parish, Effingham (Green Creek), and St. Mary of the Annunciation Parish, Shumway, at St. Mary Help of Christians Church, Effingham (Green Creek)

Mass for Sunday of the 30th Week in Ordinary Time, Year B | October 26, 2024, A.D.

† Most Reverend Thomas John Paprocki
Bishop of Springfield in Illinois

My dear brothers and sisters in Christ: It is good for us to be here today for this Mass and Rite of Installation of Father Adam Prichard as Pastor of St. Mary Help of Christians Parish in Green Creek and St. Mary of the Annunciation Parish in Shumway.

Although a new pastor officially receives the necessary authority to begin his parish ministry in his official decree of appointment from his bishop, my presence here to do this Rite of Installation is a reminder of an essential part of being a disciple, namely, disciples do not choose their own path, they follow Christ where He leads them. For example, I did not just show up here in the Diocese of Springfield one day and claim the title of bishop for myself. No, I was sent, I was commissioned, by then Pope Benedict XVI, himself having been given his authority as Pope after Christ gave it to St. Peter when He founded the Church: “Whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatever you loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven” (Matthew 16:19.

In a similar way, a priest is sent and entrusted with the pastoral responsibilities of a parish by his bishop, and it is during the rite of installation that we celebrate here this evening that this handing over of the “keys of the kingdom” (albeit only a small part of Christ’s Kingdom) takes place.

At the same time, Jesus’ gift of responsibility and authority over His Church as entrusted to Peter, and my giving a part of that to your new pastor today, is not something that happens only to the Pope, or to bishops or priests. Every one of us has been entrusted with a small part of Jesus’ Kingdom. For some of you, that is upholding Christ’s reign in your family, as you work, or among the people you are friends with. For all of us, Christ has given us the responsibility, and dignity, of caring for and protecting His Kingdom in our own hearts.

One of the ways that we do this happens every Sunday when we profess our faith by praying the Creed. For Saint Peter Himself, it was only after his profession of faith in Jesus as “the Christ, the Son of the Living God” that he was made leader of the Church. Today, in a special way, all of us, with your new pastor, will recite the Creed, professing individually and together our common faith in Christ. By that profession, I officially ask your pastor to take on the responsibilities of this parish with the heart of Christ. But every time we profess the Creed, every time we pray those words that billions of Christians have prayed down through the centuries, we each renew our own commitment to Jesus and that commitment should be evident in the way we live.

Of course, our prayer together this evening is not just a recommitment to the Lord, it is also to give thanksgiving and worship to God, who daily provides for us. Before officially installing your new Pastor, I offer my condolences to you on the death of your previous pastor, Father Al Allen. He was the first priest to die among all the priests that I ever ordained, so it was especially meaningful for me to be the main celebrant for his Funeral Mass last July. May he rest in peace.

I thank Father Adam Prichard for his own fidelity to the Lord, and obedience to me, in taking on this new assignment as your Pastor of St. Mary Help of Christians Parish in Green Creek and St. Mary of the Annunciation Parish in Shumway.

Father Adam Prichard was born on June 4, 1984, was ordained a priest by me on May 23, 2015. He served as Parochial Vicar at Blessed Sacrament Parish in Quincy, St. Jude Parish in Rochester, and St. Paul Parish in Highland. For the past five years, he has served as Chaplain at Saint Anthony Memorial Hospital in Effingham.

Father Adam Prichard will serve you now as pastor as we continue forward into this Third Millennium of Christianity, so I think it is fitting to call to mind a theme suggested by our late Holy Father, the Great Pope Saint John Paul II, in his Apostolic Letter, Novo Millennio Ineunte, "On Entering the New Millennium," which I quote as follows (nos. 30-31): "First of all, I have no hesitation in saying that all pastoral initiatives must be set in relation to holiness." Holiness consists of following Jesus as His disciples, as people who listen and learn from Him, and who put Him first in our lives. In a real relationship with Christ, we discover that everything we have was first a gift from our Heavenly Father.

Saint Peter wrote of this realization and consequent conversion in these words: "As each one has received a gift, use it to serve one another as good stewards of God's varied grace" (1 Peter 4:10). This is why stewardship naturally flows from the authentic disciple. We cannot help but make return to the Lord of all the good things He has done for us.

In the Fall of 2015, I published my second pastoral letter, entitled, Ars Crescendi in Dei Gratia, Latin for "The Art of Growing in God's Grace." In it, I wrote, "The art of growing in God's grace is the key to growth in the Church. Building a culture of growth in the Church starts with inviting people to experience the love of Jesus Christ.” All of us are not just called to receive God’s love for ourselves, but to become instruments of that love in those around us! This is how the Church will grow.

In 2017 we concluded our Fourth Diocesan Synod in which the clergy, consecrated religious, and delegates from all 129 parishes in this Diocese voted overwhelmingly to adopt a dozen declarations on how we should live out our identity as disciples and stewards in this diocese for the coming years. The first of these declarations was a bold response to God’s call: “The mission of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Springfield in Illinois is to build a fervent community of intentional and dedicated missionary disciples of the Risen Lord and steadfast stewards of God’s creation who seek to become saints. Accordingly, the community of Catholic faithful in this diocese is committed to the discipleship and stewardship way of life as commanded by Christ Our Savior and as revealed by Sacred Scripture and Tradition.”

Four pillars, essential areas for our faithful discipleship and stewardship, came from those synodal discussions: hospitality, prayer, formation, and service. In other words, we are the kind of Catholic Christians who will invite people proactively to join us in prayer, especially Sunday Mass; we will provide well-prepared celebrations of the sacraments and other occasions for prayer as signs of hope and paths of grace to heaven; we will study the Bible and learn more about Jesus and our Catholic faith; and we will serve each other, especially those in need, by practicing charity and justice.

If we look briefly at our readings today, when God called Jeremiah to serve as His prophet, Jeremiah received the word of God for the spiritual benefit of the people of Judah. The people, however, refused to accept this prophet's invitation to walk the path of life. They chose instead to go their own way, a path that ultimately will bring them to exile in Babylon. God takes the initiative, however, to lead the people back to their homeland.

In our Gospel passage today from Saint Mark (10:46-52), Jesus has just finished disclosing to his disciples His true identity as the Messiah who must suffer, die, and be raised up. These disciples, who by now should understand what Jesus is saying, fail to comprehend Our Lord's message. Then a blind beggar named Bartimaeus approaches Jesus. Bartimaeus knows that Jesus is the son of David, which is a messianic title for Jesus, and he believes Jesus can heal him of his blindness. When asked what he wants from Jesus, Bartimaeus responds that he wants to see again. Ironically, even though he is blind, Bartimaeus sees clearly through the eyes of faith. Jesus recognizes this and thus instructs the blind man to go his way because his faith has saved him.

Immediately he receives his physical sight and follows Jesus on the way, which is Mark's way of saying that Bartimaeus became a disciple of Jesus. The irony throughout all of this is that the disciples can see physically, but spiritually they are blind. Bartimaeus, who is physically blind, spiritually sees very clearly.

My brothers and sisters in Christ, we are called to see with eyes of faith God and then speak of our faith so that others may come to believe that Jesus is Our Lord and Savior.

A few weeks ago, our National Eucharistic Congress took place in Indianapolis, where 60,000 Catholics gathered for this moving and memorable event, and countless more joined us via livestream. The National Eucharistic Revival, of which the Congress was a major part, now continues with a special Year of Mission, which calls for Catholics to share their rekindled love of the Eucharist with other people. This is an essential aspect of our being disciples of Jesus Christ and stewards of God's gifts of creation.

Now, your parishes have already begun following Christ as disciples and stewards, so when Our Lord comes to us again today in this Eucharist, each of us is invited into an even more complete following after Him. Jesus asks your new pastor for trust, for courage, and for prayer in continuing God's mission in these parishes. But your pastor cannot do this alone; he needs the commitment and cooperation of all of you. Today it is my joy to join you all in our worship of God and receive the gift of His Son in this Eucharist. I pray that all of you will work with Father Adam Prichard in seeking to be intentional disciples of the Lord and generous stewards of the gifts entrusted to us for the growth of the Church as we journey together toward our inheritance in the glory of Heaven. Therefore, dear parishioners of St. Mary Help of Christians Parish in Green Creek and St. Mary of the Annunciation Parish in Shumway, I urge you to strive for holiness, to work and pray with your new pastor. Support him, help him, pray for him, and most of all, love him as he loves you and as Christ calls us to love each other.

May God give us this grace. Amen.
